

(Image of Prem, wearing a burgundy shirt, at an orange podium branded "Liberal Democrats")

PREM RAGHVANI

FOR NORTH EAST CHAIR

Dear friend,

I'm delighted to tell you that I'm standing to be North East Chair.

Who am I?

I'm Prem, a first-year Natural Sciences student at Durham University, originally from Oldham, Greater Manchester. I'm a liberal because I believe that as long as you're not harming others, you should be free to live as you like. That's why I'm standing for the North East Chair, to develop our regional party, and challenge Labour's dominance.

There aren't enough Young Liberals in the North of England

To change that, I pledge to:

- a. Work to Develop New Branches - working with the branch development officer to open new university branches across the North East and develop existing ones further.
- b. Promote Political Education - I'll help branches provide political education in schools across the North East, especially in schools and sixth forms.

(spreading a positive message about the Liberal Democrats)

- c. Be the North East's Voice - Have something you want me to raise in the Liberal Democrats, or within the Young Liberals? I'll listen to you and take up the issues that matter most to you.

WHY STOP THERE? VOTE PREM!